

Press Release

LUNOS Receives Life & Living Award 2024 as Most Popular Provider in the Field of Technology – Ventilation

Berlin, March 14, 2024 – Lunos Lüftungstechnik GmbH has been awarded the prestigious Life & Living Award 2024 as the most popular provider in the field of Technology - Ventilation. The ceremonial award ceremony took place this evening at the Bertelsmann Representation in Berlin, organized by the German Institute for Service Quality and ntv.

The Life & Living Award honors companies and brands that stand out with exceptional products and services in the domestic environment. This year's award is based on an extensive survey of consumers, with over 56,000 votes received.

Founded in 1959, Lunos Lüftungstechnik GmbH is a global leader in ventilation technology with an international customer base in both the private and commercial sectors. The company focuses particularly on decentralized residential ventilation and also offers heat recovery systems, smart home equipment, and a wide range of accessory elements.

Markus Hamer, Managing Director of the German Institute for Service Quality, highlighted LUNOS's outstanding performance: "The consumer ratings show that Lunos Lüftungstechnik GmbH meets the expectations and demands of customers to a high degree. The high willingness to recommend and to choose the company again underlines the outstanding satisfaction of customers."

Catja Stammen, editor-in-chief of the ntv business magazines, emphasized the significance of Lunos Lüftungstechnik GmbH for the domestic environment: "Lunos Lüftungstechnik GmbH contributes significantly to making people feel comfortable and safe in their own homes. The award as the most popular provider in the field of Technology - Ventilation is an acknowledgment of Lunos Lüftungstechnik GmbH's commitment to offering high-quality products and services."

Lunos Lüftungstechnik GmbH sincerely thanks all the consumers who cast their vote, as well as the German Institute for Service Quality and ntv for the recognition and award.

About Lunos Lüftungstechnik GmbH

Founded in 1959, Lunos Lüftungstechnik GmbH is the world leader in ventilation technology and serves an international customer base in the private and commercial sectors. The company's focus is on decentralized residential ventilation, with heat recovery systems, smart home equipment, and a wide range of accessory elements also included in the assortment.